What exactly is Microsoft doing?

... and why?

... and how?

To be honest...

- Collaboration today is very often not really “collaboration”
- File version chaos
- Email spam
- Co-Authoring sometimes
- Whiteboard sometimes
- Email is often the central storage 🤖

Loop for the rescue!

- Loop as new productivity cockpit
- Loop = real-time collaboration
- Loop as connector between apps

The Vision (visualized & simplified)

What does Loop offer?

Loop components

Dynamic "Text passage"

Live components

Fluid Framework

Structuring (chapter)

How to enable Loop

Loop Components in Teams

- Step 1: SharePoint Online Admin PowerShell

Set-SPOTenant -IsLoopEnabled <$true|$false>
```

How to enable Loop

Loop app and integration with M365 apps

- Step 1: AAD Group (Security / Dynamic / M365) for Pilot Deployment
- Step 2: Exchange Online License
- Step 3: Cloud Policy
- Step 4: Patience

What should I know (technically)?

- Loop runs on the Fluid Framework
- Loop uses WebSocket technology for the real-time functions
- Components are on by default
- App is off by default
- App has no retention policy support

There will be more....

```
Administrator: Windows PowerShell
PS C:\> get-spotenant | select loop

OneDriveLoopDefaultSharingLinkScope : Uninitialized
OneDriveLoopDefaultSharingLinkRole  : None
CoreLoopSharingCapability           : ExternalUserAndGuestSharing
CoreLoopDefaultSharingLinkScope     : Uninitialized
CoreLoopDefaultSharingLinkRole      : None
IsLoopEnabled                       : True
```

```
PS C:\> get-spotenant | select fluid
